

Anna Dennis

I was born in London and now live in Italy and have been for the past 20 years. I work with oil paints both in the studio and out and about painting plein Air as for me that is the best way to watch the world go by!

I have been visiting the Island all my life because my family is originally from Bembridge where they have now returned and I enjoy going down to the beach to paint and revisiting old places, this time with a paintbrush and a small painting box with wooden panels to paint on. The Island is full of inspiring places to paint and I look forward to discovering more.
